Curriculum for Wales 2022

Education Minister Publishes New Draft Curriculum for Wales

Please find attached an important letter from Kirsty Williams regarding the launch of the draft curriculum for Wales. Can you please share this with your staff and governors through your normal communication channels.

Engagement Sessions for Headteachers

We hope that you have all received the letter that was sent to you from the Minister about the availability of Curriculum 2022 on Hwb.

Further to the diary marker shared at the end of last term, please click here to view further information about the Curriculum for Wales 2022 awareness sessions that you as Headteachers are invited to attend.

Areas of Learning and Experience Workshops

On behalf of Welsh Government, we are holding sessions for regional schools on each Area of Learning and Experience during June. In order to give schools plenty of opportunities to receive information on each AoLE, we are holding 3 sessions during the day and each will last 2 hours (9-11am, 1pm-3pm and 4pm-5.30pm). Sessions will be held in various regional locations during June. These workshops are specifically for staff members who are responsible for planning these areas. Click here for further information and to register.

Dysg – 9 May 2019 • Issue 209 ★NEW★

The Welsh Government sent issue 209 of the Dysg [Pre-11] eNewsletter on 9 May 2019. This issue contains information regarding the National Reading and Numeracy Tests. Click here for a copy.

Miscellaneous Information and Surveys

Revision Workbooks – Welsh Books Council ★NEW★

The Welsh Books Council has received a number of enquiries regarding GCSEs and A Level revision guides in a range of subjects, therefore, it has created the leaflets below so that teachers and parents can see what's available. They fully understand that they're late for this year's exams, but are perfect to prepare for next year.

The Council is also eager to visit all schools or to come into contact with the teachers of each school. They would like you to inform them of any courses or meetings they can be involved in, and bring an exhibition of books.
